Telling or telling tales?

The Day We Broke the Silence · KS2

Cut out the cards. Sort them with a partner, then talk about why.

Telling to keep someone safe	Telling to get someone into trouble

✂ cut along the dashed lines

Notes about a classmate are being passed round every day.

Someone got one more sticker than you.

Someone has sat on their own at lunch all week because others won't let them join.

Your friend sharpened their pencil when the class was meant to be listening.

A younger pupil is being called names at break, again and again.

Someone chose the library book you wanted.

A friend says they feel worried about coming to school because of what others say to them.

Someone sang the wrong words in assembly.

Not sure? Tell anyway. A trusted adult would rather know.
